Blaze 2nd Serious One In 2 Weeks

Discovery Is Made at 6:20 A. M.; May Have Started From Heater Pipe

Hydrants Frozen
'Solid Water' Delays Firemen, Who Pump From Brook

Highland village was the scene of another serious fire early this morning when flames were discovered in the Highland Public Library building. A. W. Lent, library trustee who made an estimate of $30,000 damage, said 90 per cent of the library's books were destroyed by fire and water.

The Ulster County Health Department clinic in the same building also was damaged. The fire which started near the smoke pipe of the heating plant burned up through the center of the building and did considerable damage to the two-story and attic building before the flames were brought under control and extinguished.

Fire Chief William H. Maynard said the records of the library as well as those of the health center were saved. After the fire had been brought under control, the equipment at the Health Center was removed and Chief Maynard said it apparently had not been damaged.

The main damage was on the first floor where the library suffered considerable damage from fire, smoke and water. Discovered in Cellar

Fire was discovered in the cellar of the library building about 6:20 o'clock, when a fireman observed and the fireman entered the cellar, it appeared to be near the heater pipe. It is believed the fire may have started from an overheated smoke pipe. An investigation was still under way today, Chief Maynard said.

Firemen found the hydrants had been frozen by the severe cold weather and there was delay in getting a stream on the fire, Chief Maynard said. Water was pumped from the brook near the Mountain View bus terminal and a line was also run to the brook on Vineyard avenue near the Bridgeview station. Hose lines were also laid to fire hydrants.

The fire spread rapidly through the center of the building from the cellar to the roof but firemen from Highland and also from Poughkeepsie battled the flames successfully and brought them under control.

On the first floor is located five rooms, a storage room and work shop of the library. The second floor also contained five rooms and bath, housing the health unit.

The property is separated from the main building by a driveway and the church adjoins the manse. Across from the library is located the Sugar Bowl from which place Chief Maynard was contacted this morning while still battling the fire, to give information to The Freeman. Al Roberts, state game warden and president of the Highland Hose Company, was also on the job at the fire.

Music in Kingston Schools

(A tribute to parents and families who foster music in the home comes from Engelbert Roentgen, first cellist in the Metropolitan Opera House orchestra, and who has made his summer home in Woodstock for almost 30 years. This is the ninth in a series of articles by Mrs. Caroline M. Seitz, editorial staff of The Freeman.)

Since cooperation of parents in the home is a most important part of building instrumental organizations with young people, a letter just received from Engelbert Roentgen seems most appropriate. He suggests that Dr. Edwin Franko Goldman's statement, "We are still far behind in the East, as a general thing," could be a great incentive for the Kingston youngsters to get together and put Kingston school music on the map.

Tribute to Parents

He writes, "Aside from the excellent work being done by your musical organizations, church and school, it is the parents and music schools to make music a living thing. I would also like to pay a tribute to those Kingston families whom it has been my good fortune to know, who fostered the art of music in their own homes—the Knuts, the Dunbars and Mrs. Cumberley. On these occasions, usually after a delicious dinner, we promptly began a musical. No other form of entertainment could possibly have given us such immense pleasure.

For instance Mrs. Dunbar would contribute her part with an interpretation of Schubert, Brahms and Wolf lieder. Chamber music was the next number on the program, each of the children playing an instrument. Small wonder that Eva Dunbar in a recent interview said, "My interest in music is no fault of my own, but probably the result of so much music in our home. I might say that we always indulged in chamber music much as other people are apt to turn to bridge—upon the slightest provocation. Eva is a graduate of the Kingston High School. This winter she was accepted as a member of the New Orleans Symphony Orchestra.

"Another successful Kingston High School graduate is Patricia Scudder, a talented young violinist. Recent articles indicate that perseverance pays; not that I expect every child to become a professional player! Yet who knows?

Parents Insist

"As to the time needed for practice I probably rebelled also, but in later years I became increasingly grateful to my parents for their insistence on regular practice. Music was the watchword in our home as time in generations before my time. The love for music which I thus absorbed will remain with me all of my life. "Aside from the cultural and pleasurable angle as to why a child should take up the study of an instrument, there remains the practical side. Not infrequently have I come across people in other professions who for one reason or another met with disappointment and retreating from their chosen field returned to music, having learned to play some instrument well during their school days—and (very important) had wisely kept it up. "These people made a more satisfactory and agreeable living in the field of music.

Careers Inspire

"Isn't it also inspiring to think of the careers which have been made by such men as Dr. Edwin Franko Goldman who started as a trumpet player with the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra and became a bandmaster of International fame; Paul Whiteman, once member of the violin section of the San Francisco Symphony; or new likes, who have risen to a world famous leader; the renowned Arturo Toscanini formerly played the cello in Milan; Guy Lombardo is another instrumentalist who became the leader of an orchestra of lighter vein.

President Truman, Pianist

"These are only a few examples. Returning to the cultural reward, we have an outstanding example in our own President Truman, with whom piano playing is a passion; likewise his daughter who recently made her debut as a singer.

Musical Sayings

"Before closing I would like to quote a few famous sayings which I hope both pupils and parents might be willing to consider: "Music my rampart and my only one!—Edna St. Vincent Millay.

"Music is almost all we have of heaven on earth.—Joseph Addison.

"See deep enough, and you see musically.—Thomas Carlyle.

"Musical training is a more potent instrument than any other because rhythm and harmony find their way into the inward places of the soul, on which they mightily fasten.—Plato.

"We have been trying to convince the rest of the world that all we want is to help them—I have been wondering if we cannot convince them with words we might convince them better with music."—General George Marshall.

Very cordially yours,

ENGELBERT ROENTGEN

C.I.O. Clerks Will Go to Court Rather Than Strike

New York, Feb. 13 (AP)—C.I.O. clerks in 152 Safeway Food Stores will take their dispute with management to court rather than resort to strike action. Patrick J. Reape, business manager of Local 474, C.I.O. National Food Chain Store Employees, said last night union and company representatives had agreed to await interpretation by the Supreme Court of a disputed clause in the present contract. The clause governs working hours. The 1,200 clerks threatened strike action as a result of a company decision to operate some stores until 9 p. m. Friday nights, but stagger reporting hours to avoid overtime. The union demanded overtime pay for the night work. The stores involved are in New York city, Nassau, Westchester and Rockland counties in New York, and Bergen county in New Jersey.

New York Seeks Second Oil Loan From Naval Supply

New York, Feb. 13 (AP)—New York city, once more scraping the bottom of its fuel oil barrel, today sought a second loan of oil from the navy.

In a telegram to Secretary of Navy Sullivan, the city yesterday asked for additional oil from government stocks "to avert a grave situation, menacing to the health and welfare of the people of New York city."

The message was sent by Police Commissioner Arthur W. Wallender, chairman of the city's emergency fuel committee. Wallender also wired Interior Secretary Krug for aid in meeting the shortage.

Despite the temporary break in the cold weather, the city still was receiving more than 2,000 calls daily from residents complaining of a lack of heating fuel.

Nearly half of the city's 2,784,600-gallon share of home-heating type oil provided recently by the navy is already gone, although much of the 8,400,000 gallons of navy-lent heavy oil remains to be delivered here and in upstate New York.

The heavy oil, used primarily by industrial plants and large apartment-house heating units, is in navy storage at Norfolk, Va., awaiting movement here late next week.

Meanwhile, Francis L. Brown, assistant state fuel coordinator, predicted that upstate communities are faced with a probable oil shortage of about 140,000 barrels by March 15 because of inadequate transportation facilities. While the upstate area normally uses about 700,000 barrels between Feb. 15 and March 15, Brown said that present barge, truck and rail facilities could handle only about 560,000 barrels.

Since last Friday, Brown said, three convoys of oil barges carrying 130,000 barrels of oil had moved from Bayonne, N. J., to Newburgh, N. Y., where the oil is transferred to trucks. A fourth convoy was to depart today.

TO CONSERVE SOIL

The current session of Congress will see another effort to abolish the independent status of the Soil Conservation Service by merging it with some other federal farm agency, probably with the Agricultural Extension Service, long-established advisory service for farmers, operating through county farm agents. The two services frequently operate side by side in county units, but function separately and sometimes tend to compete for the attention and support of the individual farmer. Both are under the Department of Agriculture.

The Soil Conservation Service enters into contractual obligations with individual farmers on a long-term basis. One device for gaining the confidence of the farmer for this set-up has been to vest control in local bodies appointed by the county governing authority. The Extension Service on the other hand is purely advisory, and control is essential in state units, with counties sometimes contributing to the support of the agency but exercising little control.

The two biggest farm organizations are divided on the issue of merger. The American Farm Bureau Federation favors it. The National Grange is opposed, and expresses the fear that the Farm Bureau stand may in part be influenced by the fact that in some states the Farm Bureau helps to pay the county agent's salary, and hence holds a degree of control over his activities.

Economy and efficiency might be gained by merger of the two services. They have the same goal—better farm practice. Because their methods are so different a wise and blameless administration would be needed for a successful merger.

No flowers will ever be laid on the grave of the man who invented taxes.

AUSTRALIAN ECONOMICS

Australia, like other countries, is short of dollars, and is now abandoning its negative remedy of cutting imports in favor of a positive campaign of increasing exports to the United States, Canada, and the Philippines.

This does not mean that there is any surplus of the good on the export program. On the contrary, there is a marked shortage of woolen cloth, knit goods, steel and steel products, which are among the items to be sent abroad. Food products not needed in England, such as wines, frozen seafood and canned fruit, will also be exchanged for dollars. Storage batteries to the amount of 20 per cent of those produced will be sent to the United States, and air transport will be used in the shipment of frozen meats to the Philippines. This drain on the Australian market will go on for a six months' trial period.

It is interesting to compare the methods carried out by different countries in the attempt to get dollars with which to buy machinery and tools from the United States. Theoretically, at least, these products in turn will start manufacturing rolling, and in time the dollar balance may be restored. Careful study on the part of economic experts results in one country stripping itself in order to increase exports, while another encourages imports for a full and healthy home market. One policy is for a short haul, while the other is for a long pull. Time will show which policy is the better.

Language is funny. Why would a fellow who is broke say he wants a break?

RUSSIANS ALSO DIG

The Russians are doing other things besides abusing other countries and consolidating their position in Eastern Europe. They are finding time to excavate the old-time civilizations of the Russian past.

The most intriguing report is one by the Moscow radio that traces have been found in the Ukraine of the human life of 400,000 years ago. This would be almost as old as the skulls found in Piltdown, England and in China near Peking. These are roughly dated as 500,000 years old. The Piltdown skull has been called the most valuable object in all England. Whether any bones have been

"These Days"

By George E. Sokolsky

MARSHALL PLAN FIGURES

The State Department is having an extraordinarily difficult time deciding its own Marshall Plan figures. Either it suffers from differences within the Department or it is in a state of confusion.

On December 19, 1947, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee issued a statement from the Department to the Committee entitled "Outline of European Recovery Program." In that statement, on page 117, a table is given of proposed shipments from countries other than the United States in the Western Hemisphere totaling $3,245,000,000.

On February 7, however, the State Department issued a new table showing only $2,490,000,000 of supplies from other Western Hemisphere countries—or a reduction of $855,000,000. Does it mean that the United States is to absorb $855,000,000 in American irreplaceable natural resources? Does it mean that the total Marshall Plan is to be reduced by about $1,000,000,000? Does it mean anything at all?

Again questions must be asked about such items as this one: The original proposal of December 19 for the first 15 months included $155,000,000 of coffee and $30,000,000 of tobacco from other Western Hemisphere countries and $260,000,000 of tobacco from the United States. This makes a total of $445,000,000 for tobacco and coffee. Now, men may differ on the nutritive value of tobacco and coffee, but does the American taxpayer have to provide them free—particularly coffee, which is not grown here at all?

The original proposal of December 19 called for $701,000,000 petroleum products from the United States or to be bought with American money somewhere. Recently the State Department, under public pressure because of the American shortage, issued a statement that no petroleum products would be shipped from the United States. And there is not enough oil coming from other countries to supply this amount. There is an obvious shortage of petroleum products in the United States on account of which large areas of this country suffered grievously this winter. What is the meaning of the above figures and the paradox inherent in them?

Also, it is now disclosed that in apportioning the total $17,000,000,000 contributions are to be made to the following countries:

Denmark	$ 582,000,000
Portugal	150,000,000
Ireland	497,000,000
	$1,229,000,000

If the Marshall Plan is proposed on a alleviate starvation, Denmark, Portugal and Ireland are not starving. They are, in fact, doing very well in the matter of food. Denmark and Ireland are exporters of food. If the Marshall Plan is proposed to stop the tide of Communism, Denmark, Portugal and Ireland are not in danger from Communism.

If the Marshall Plan is proposed to help Portugal and Ireland were not damaged by the war and neither was occupied by Germany. Apparently this $1,229,000,000 is a little bit extra, perhaps to make these nations feel good. If a sop is thrown to Portugal, why not Spain? Are they not the same kind of people? Certainly, Brazil, which is tied by blood and history to Portugal, can aid the mother country without burdening the American taxpayer. At no stage of this discussion have Brazil and the Argentine—the only South American countries that can export much to Europe—indicated any unwillingness to do their share on their own. Why should we pour some $3,000,000,000 into these countries in the event of their asking aid and do not need it? (This figure includes Canada, which is another matter). Yet, under the plan that is precisely what we would be doing. Most of the South American states have grown richer during the war.

And finally, why should the United States pour any of this money into Europe in terms of replaceable commodities while the German factories are shut down and the German worker is idle, living on American charity, paid by the American taxpayer. Herbert Hoover proposed that the German be put to work and the load on the American reduced, but the German was to be sold poison, to bring on alcoholic blindness, to murder, to kill, to destroy.

These are some of the things Mr. Sokolsky sees in prohibition. Well, if all this was true under prohibition law, then real facts tell a much worse story today without a prohibition law.

The F.B.I. places the cost of crime alone at $16,000,000,000 with at least one half chargeable to drink. The distillers are making immense profits. Seagram's profits for the year ending July 31 of $43,122,502 as compared with $24,530,122 for the previous years, tell part of the story.

Alcoholic Anonymous reports its membership has jumped from 7,000 to 50,000 in four years which verifies the former. The distillers cheer the A.A. while (to put it mildly) they have a great dislike for the W.C.T.U. Can you guess why?

The W.C.T.U. is seeking through education to save the coming generations from the evil of alcohol. Just how this may be accomplished we are not too much concerned about. Prayer has always been the weapon for defense of the W.C.T.U. and we know, "prayer is mightier than the sword." We shall rejoice and co-operate in any plan for the overthrow of all evil.

Abraham Lincoln said in address before the Washington Temperance Society at Springfield, Ill., on February 22, 1842, "and when the victory shall be complete, when there shall be neither a slave nor a drunkard on earth, how proud the little of that land which may truly claim to be the birthplace and the cradle of both these revolutions, that shall have ended in that victory."

This is our aim, May God grant us victory.

Mary Townley Has Order to Design Altar for Church

Woodstock, Feb. 13—A jack knife, not the traditional doll, was Mary Townley's favorite toy as a child of ten. Today, however, instead of whittling carvatures of animals, Mary is teaching wood carving and metal work at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsman, and is the proud possessor of a commission to design and carve an altar for St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church in Bullville, N. Y.

Before coming to Woodstock a little over a year ago, the petite instructor had what she described as "one of the richest experiences of my life. It all began," said Mary, "when my mother, a widow with five of us to care for, bought a farm in Circleville, near Middletown, N. Y., as mother believed it was the only way we could be secure."

Farm life was entirely new to the Townley family but apparently they lost no time in adjusting themselves to their new surroundings and learning how to operate the farm. According to Mary, much of the knowledge gained came by way of the trial and error method although interested farm neighbors contributed much helpful information and of course they also resorted to books. Most important, perhaps, was the fine spirit of cooperation in the family group and in their determination to make a success of the new undertaking.

It was not long until the farmers were the proud possessors of 14 Guernsey cows, several hogs, sheep, and thousands of chickens on their 150 acres. "We raised our own vegetables, beef, pork and lamb. In the early days we used to can everything but later on we had a freezer," and then smiling, Mary continued, "I remember hearing my mother say she fed us all one winter on ten dollars worth of vegetable seeds."

Time for Carving

And, what about the woodcarving during this busy time, queried your reporter. "Well, said Mary, you know we made and peddled butter and cheese as well as vegetables and sold on the average of about 1,000 chickens a month, but in spite of the many chores, I found time for woodcarving and metal work and had an exhibition in Middletown."

This energetic young woman taught her favorite crafts to a troop of Girl Scouts in Middletown and later at the Scout camp in Spruce Ridge.

When only 15, Mary Townley had a "modest" business and employed a salesman to market her animal carvatures. Another outlet for her talent has been the repairing of damaged carving on antique furniture.

It is expected with the arrival of more reasonable weather that Mary's classes will be very popular. Monday afternoons, Mary conducts classes in woodcarving at the Guild Center and on Tuesdays, metal work instruction is given. The well equipped shop is a delightful place to work. During part of her interview, Mrs. Louis L. Hurley, housewife from Sawkill, was busily engaged making a stunning belt buckle. It looked like very professional work to us and so commented but Mrs. Hurley insisted she was merely a beginner but found the craft to be "the most relaxing work one can do."

Mary's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Townley, were both artists. Her father was a commercial artist and specialized in marine subjects, while her mother was known for her portraits and etchings.

With her first order for a church altar, it was seen that Mary's ambition to concentrate on ecclesiastical carving and metal work was about to be realized. However, she is working on several pieces of a different type which will be seen in the Guild and Market Fair next summer.

The olive branch side of the wreath represents peace; the oak leaf side, strength; the industrial wheel, work; and the big star, rebirth of the republic.

Byrnes Testifies Stiles Did Not Say He Wouldn't Agree

New York, Feb. 13 (AP)—James E. Stiles, publisher of the Nassau Daily Review-Star, of Rockville Center, L. I., did not tell union negotiators at a meeting last August 7 that he would refuse to operate under conditions of employment, John J. Byrnes, president of the Nassau County Typographical Union 915, testified yesterday.

Byrnes spent all day testifying before National Labor Relations Board Trial Examiner Peter F. Ward in a continuation of an N.L.R.B. hearing. The N.L.R.B. and the newspaper charge the International Typographical Union, A.F.L., and its affiliate, Nassau Local 915, with unfair labor practices under the Taft-Hartley Act and refusing to bargain collectively in good faith.

Byrnes, who has been a proof-reader or otherwise employed by the Review-Star Corporation for 18 years, testified that on last August 11 the printers "were restless about union negotiations with the newspaper management."

"I urged them to go back to work and they did," he said. However, the printers stopped work last November 10 and since then the newspaper has continued publishing by hiring non-union printers and by training apprentice printers.

Questioned about negotiations between the union officials and the newspaper management last July 24, Byrnes was asked by Alan F. Perl, counsel for I.T.U., if the printers had threatened to strike at that time.

"They couldn't strike then," Byrnes replied, "because we (the local union) had not taken a strike vote."

Byrnes reiterated his testimony at previous sessions that at several times the union officials and the management seemed near an agreement on a new union contract except for a "grievance clause." He said Stiles commented that "we never have any grievances anyway."

Everyone knows where this one's going

Tune in HENRY J. TAYLOR, Mutual Network, Mondays and Fridays

No, it hasn't always been easy, here of late, to be absolutely sure just which way automobile design was heading.

So it's a refreshing thing, people tell us, to see one car that quite clearly knows where it's going—and shows it inside and out.

You can't mistake this poised and ready fashion plate for anything but a Buick—you're sure from a glance that you'll find it steady as a battle cruiser and full of ginger as one of Grandma's cookies.

A broad bonnet promises plenty-power—and you get it with such velvety new smoothness that you need to check the battery-charge needle to make sure the engine's running.

You size it up as comfortable. The road's verdict is that it's the most tireless car on the market, what with four coil springs, pillow low-pressure tires and a wholly new attack on car vibration keeping you fresh through the longest day.

You find quiet here—quiet that encourages conversation—quiet from Sound-Sorber top lining that invites conversation in normal tones.

And if it's a Dynaflo Roadmaster you're handling, here you can sample driving ease that is near magic in its simplicity.

You set a lever, press the gas treadle—and simply steer. The power plant does all the rest—swoops you up from standstill to full pace, accelerates, climbs, slows to a stop, starts up again—all without any gearshifting, either manual or automatic!

So it's pretty plain where this one's heading—it's going even higher in the regard of the motoring public.

Why not see your Buick dealer now and get your order in?

Little Willie, returning from school one day was greeted at the door by his mother who asked, "Well, sonnie, what were your lessons about today?"

"George Washington," replied the boy. "But Mother," he said, "I don't understand it. George Washington was as honest as they say he is, why do they close the banks on his birthday?"

If you want to get somewhere in this world first plan your work, and then work your plan. That makes realities of dreams.

Austin Butcher says: "During the first week of married life she is afraid to spend any of her husband's money. But a year later she is afraid he will get to spend some of it."

Warning
The jockey said, "I'll win, my dear."
"With whispers in my horse's ear."
"Poppies are red, forget-me-nots blue."
"Horses that lose are made into glue."

Road to Fortune
The temperance lecturer had warned to his subject.
"Who has the most money to spend?" he thundered. "The publican. Who runs around in fine cars. The publican. Who has fine fur coats. The publican's wife. And who pays for all these? You, my friends, you!"

A short time later a man and a woman stopped the lecturer in the street and thanked him for his advice. The lecturer looked gratified.

"I am indeed glad," he said, "that you have given up the evils of drink."

"Oh, no, we haven't done that," was the reply. "We've bought a pub!"

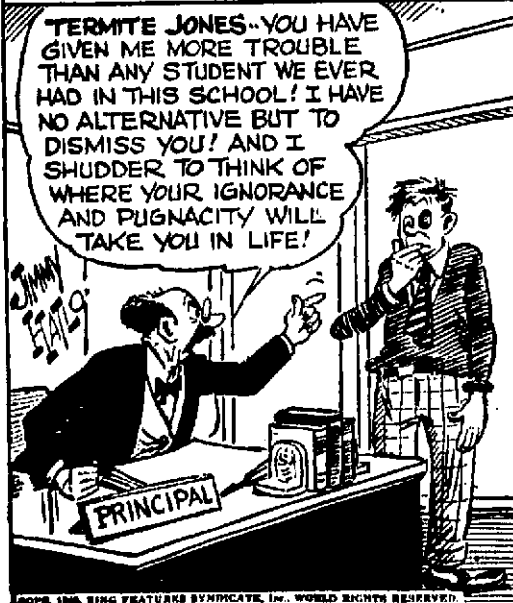

"When a business man makes a mistake he has to pay for it or go out of business. When a bureaucrat makes a mistake, he smilingly files it away and tries another theory."

Never try to look too far into the misty future. Go as far as you can. When you get there you will see farther.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Feb. 12.—A meeting of the Ashokan W.S.C.S. was scheduled for Wednesday forenoon at the home of Mrs. Hazel Byrne.

Joseph H. Dewitt, who is employed at Terry's brickyard, was a caller in his old home town Monday.

Local school teachers attending a conference in Saugerties Wednesday included Lena Burgher, Ada Lukacs and Ruth West.

Reports from the bedside of Victor Dunnagan at the Kingston Hospital indicate the Boiceville hill road farmer to be in a very weakened condition following an illness of pneumonia.

Louis Thiel, state road farmer, has invested in a new radio. Lou already had five radios, including battery sets, the acquisition of a later model being a desire on his part to keep up with the current innovations in air reception mediums. Mr. Thiel likes also to occasionally purchase a modern gun to exhibit with his valuable collection of antique firearms.

February 13, 1889, Charles B. Everett, 22, and Henrietta Young, both of West Hurley, were united in marriage by the Rev. A. B. Barber, pastor of the Methodist Church in the neighboring village. Mr. Everett, a member of one of Hurley's most prominent families, later conducted a retail grocery store on Wall street in Kingston.

Ferris Davis, who resided in the old village as a boy, is superintendent of the John street public parking grounds.

The Shokan Ladies' Aid Society met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Burt Tandy on Route 28 for an all-day sewing bee.

Arthur Brannen, who died Tuesday morning at his home in Pine Hill, and his family made their home in one of the Winchell bungalows along the Ridge Road some 20 years ago. His wife is a sister of Claude Fraser, who lived near the Brannens here.

Callers in the village center recently included Arthur Davis, one of Kingston's younger lawyers.

Boiceville Beulah knows a man who is very good to his wife. "He is so accommodating," says Beulah, "that he even talks back every time she begins to start an argument."

Coming birthdays include that of Hewitt Osborn, son, Saturday, Feb. 14. He is a native of Olive.

His boyhood home having been the present Frank Gordon farm at Ashokan. In later life he operated a 40-acre farm along the old Plank Road near the Olive Branch schoolhouse. The Osborns, by the way, were among the earliest settlers along the Tys Tenyk mountainside. Hewitt, who is 79 years old, still visits Shokan, mostly on a Sunday when he and his wife arrive here from Athens to prepare the historic old Baptist meeting-house for the periodical all-day services. A fine, upstanding figure of a man, he declares he can still do "as good a day's work as I ever could."

Echo of the Past: A couple of years ago, in a story about the Bush boys who were abducted from their farm at Winchell's Falls and carried off to Fort Niagara by Tories and Indians, your columnist described what he thought might well have been the route traversed by the party in their 300-mile trek through the wilderness. It was our opinion, based purely on surmise, that the marauders and their youthful captives came up to what is now the reservoir center, skirted the north border of the great Beaverkill Swamp, went over Ohayo Mountain and on to a point near Saugerties where they would strike the trail over which so many settlers of the up-country area had been taken to the British fort.

Recently, however, we have received a letter from Mrs. William E. (Mina) Simpson, a native of Hurley, who states, apropos of this interesting Revolutionary War incident, that the party took off from the north Marletown farmhouse in a westerly direction. Our informant says she had been told the story many times by her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Albert Elmendorf of Olive, who was a sister of the Bush boys, related that the redskins and their white allies led their captives "over High Point." Thus, in the light of this valuable historical contribution, our readers may picture in the mind's eye, these travelers of the long ago, going through the notch or even over the crest of old High, and down South Hollow to a trail leading up through "the gulf" and past Peekamoose mountain, to the headwaters of the Rondout, thence through the wilds of the Never-sink to the Wyoming Valley, where the bones of General Sullivan's massacred heroes still repose. Here, at the junction with that other trail leading east to Schoharie and the river settlements, our party perhaps would be joined by other raiders, goading their already weary captives on toward uncertain future as prisoners in Canada.

Women's Club Hears

Talk on Porcelain; Plans Easter Drama

The Women's Club of the Y.W.C.A. met Thursday at the "Y" with Mrs. Clarence L. Dumm presiding. Guest speaker of the day was Miss Elsie Cain of George Jones Store, Fifth avenue, who spoke of famous porcelains and earthenwares.

At the business meeting tickets for the Easter drama, March 11, were distributed to all members. Mrs. Raymond R. Gross, author and director of the affair, gave a preview of the plot and stated that February 19, 10:30 a. m. she would present one scene over Station WKNY. Mrs. Dumm appointed Mrs. Leonard Flicker, Mrs. John Sterley, Mrs. Samuel Peyer and Mrs. Edward DeWitt as the committee in charge of the food sale on the day of the play. Generous donations of food are requested from the members as there will be no individual solicitation.

Mrs. John Sterley reported for her committee on bids for painting the executive director's room at the "Y." The club voted to award the contract to the lowest bidder and the work will proceed at once as a gift of the club.

The program chairman, Mrs. Raymond Craft then introduced Miss Cain. With many beautiful samples to point up her talk, Miss Cain unfolded the story of Royal Copenhagen Porcelain made in Denmark. The company was incorporated in 1775 and under the encouragement and patronage of Queen Julienne Marie, it grew to become the huge industry of today. It was the queen who designed the trademark of three wavy parallel lines that represent the three water ways of Denmark, said the speaker.

The making of the famous porcelain was described by Miss Cain as first, "bisquit firing," under terrific heat in large kilns; the dipping in liquid glaze and then the final baking until the glaze is fused. Decorations may be either underglazed or overglazed, the speaker continued. Underglazed decoration is applied to the unglazed ware then glazed and fired as usual. Due to the extreme heat the only colors that may be used in this way are blue, tan and gray. Copenhagen ware is chiefly in shades of blue.

In overglazed decoration, the colors are applied to the surface of the already once baked glazed ware and then fired at low temperature. The variety of colors in this method is almost unlimited. Decorations may be done either with a brush or by transfers.

The Danish people have a quality of intelligent gentility that is shown in their handwork, the speaker noted. They always work from living models so the result is a convincing likeness. The beautiful Copenhagen factory is set in fine surroundings and workers have birds and flowers about them as they toil. Some models displayed showed adaptations of Chinese motifs, others copied from real life like botanical prints.

There were also examples of grackle ware called by the speaker, "a royal type of ceramic art." Passing to the English scene, typical samples of Royal Doulton, Royal Worcester and Beswick figures were exhibited.

The American contribution to the field was exemplified by the "Lily of the Valley," a Haviland pattern; "June Rose" of Castleton; and "American Garden" and "Yellow Canary" of Lenox Earthenware.

Under the direction of Mrs. Samuel Peyer and Mrs. John Sterley was served at the conclusion of the program from a table featuring a log cabin centerpiece with a miniature Lincoln. Mrs. Raymond Gross poured.

The next affair on the club's calendar will be the religious drama at the First Baptist Church, March 11.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

TREASURE HIS AFFECTION

The following letter is a perfect example of making much of an inconsequential trifle. A man writes me: "My nephew by a former marriage still calls us 'Aunt' and 'Uncle.' My wife does not believe that he continues to be our nephew since I am divorced and he was related on my ex-wife's side. But as long as he calls us what he always did, I think we should go on referring to him as our nephew."

The preservation of affection is certainly of greater importance than meticulous definition of relationship. In your place, I would cherish the fact that his affection has not changed and do my best to keep it so.

Age or Aged?

Dear Mrs. Post: In your recent column about adopted babies, the last line of a suggested announcement was worded: "Age one year." In your book, the last line of the example given reads: "Aged 13 months." Can either "age" or "aged" be used or is there a reason for this difference? Also, in your book you speak of serving cards at the christening tea. I haven't been able to find out how to prepare this. Can you give the recipe?

Answer: It should be "Age (comma) one year" or "Aged (without a comma) one year," but an omitted comma is not really incorrect. Cards are merely being given to which a small amount of strained oatmeal gruel has been added.

Major Shows Best Taste

Dear Mrs. Post: My fiancé was a major in the Army during this last war. I think, since every one calls him "Major," that this title should be used on our wedding announcements. He thinks, since he is no longer connected with the Army, that he should not use it, although I know he would like to. What do you think?

Answer: Your fiancé proves his good taste in his instinctive hesitation to continue to use his military title himself. If others call him "Major," that is quite all right!

Enclosed Envelope With Invitations

Dear Mrs. Post: Are self-addressed, stamped envelopes ever enclosed with invitations?

Answer: With invitations asking that you buy tickets, they should be, but never with those to private parties. Many questions arise when a wedding is being planned. Mrs. Post explains all the details in her booklet, No. 501, "The Etiquette of Weddings." To obtain a copy send 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 3-cent stamp to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 9, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Tenderizes Meat

To tenderize tough meat cook it with an acid food such as a little vinegar or tomato. Meat should be cooked over moderate or low heat. High heat causes meat to shrink and toughen.

Powder Biscuits

Baking powder biscuit dough may be spread with mince meat, rolled up, cut in slices and baked. A brown sugar sauce is delicious served with the cooked dessert.

Primroses Need Light

Primroses need abundant light in winter and do best at about 65 degrees. Too much watering rots them, but they should not be allowed to dry out.

Catholic Daughters Held

Regular Meeting Thursday

The regular meeting of the Catholic Daughters of America Court Santa Maria 164 was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall Thursday night. It was announced that a Mass for a "Just and lasting peace," would be held Friday, February 20, at St. Peter's Church, at 8:15 o'clock.

All Daughters were asked to save their religious magazines and bring them to the meeting next month in order to deliver them to the different hospitals. An advertisement was donated to the minstrel program booklet for Holy Name Church, Wilbur.

In addressing the court, the Rev. Austin V. Carey, chaplain told of the feuds in the Medieval Days in Florence, Italy, where a man intended to avenge the murder of his brother. It was a moonlight night and as the victim fell, the shadow of a cross on an adjoining church made him look like the crucified Lord. This stopped the man who returned his dagger in his belt and thanked God for preventing him from becoming a murderer. By his penance and prayers, many years later he was canonized. The Rev. Father Carey said, "The shadow of the cross is before us and we should do penance and pray during the holy season of Lent."

Kiwanis Is Given Address on Lincoln By Local Pastor

Our world today needs many Lincolns dedicated to a dominant purpose, the Rev. Merrill Johnson of St. James Methodist Church told members of the Kingston Kiwanis Club in a Lincoln Day address at the regular luncheon meeting in the Governor Clinton Hotel, Thursday.

These must be men, he said, who will bring their lives under a purpose larger than themselves, larger than a group or class of people, in a dedication of general benefit to mankind.

"The time is America's hour," the speaker said. "It is the time in which the nation has the ability to muster resources and tremendous power, and he asked: 'What are we to do with it?'"

We are part of a cast on a great stage, he declared, but "suppose we should forget our lines or 'hog' the center of the stage?"

"The trumpet is blown," he continued, "to use this power with bluster, but suppose we should do 'the mature thing' and lead the east suppose for mankind 'we might now give a performance never before known.'"

God grant, he urged, that we may not forget our purpose, nor our lines in this task before us, but lead the east in a worthy performance.

The speaker said he liked to think of Lincoln as "a greatly emancipated spirit," as well as the great emancipator, because "no man can free others, unless he himself is free."

Lincoln, he said, sought knowledge so that he would not be enslaved by ignorance, and while it has been estimated that he had only four months of formal education, he made comparisons of books.

From his knowledge of the Bible, he said, came his style of expression which has been unmatched. He sought also to free himself from "imprisonment of impulse" through self-discipline.

He was a man, he added, who could gather his strength mentally and physically and use it for constructive purposes.

Lincoln reached the heights, he said, not only because of his knowledge and self-control, but he had the other ingredient of freedom—faith.

His election to the presidency, the speaker stressed, with one other exception, marked his only success. He cited many defeats before that and wondered if this could not have been "the hand of God" hardening him for his great role in behalf of mankind, rather than an historical accident.

The speaker was introduced by William Murray of the program committee.

club announced two new members, George J. Silkworth and George R. Mustaparta, and it announced that immediate past President G. Herbert DeKay had been named inter-club chairman and Edward M. Huber, Kiwanis education chairman of Division 2.

President William F. Leechie also announced that the January attendance had been better than 89 per cent and it was announced that 125 locations had been obtained in the club's gum-machine project.

It was announced also that the boys and girls and the vocational guidance committee would be merged in 1949 in line with a statewide Kiwanis policy.

Desmond Requests Approval of Plan To Select Justices

Newburgh Senator Would 'Raise Standards' of Judiciary; Offers 7 Methods

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 13 (AP)—Senator Thomas C. Desmond requested the Legislature today to approve new methods of selecting state Supreme Court justices as a means of "raising judicial standards."

The Newburgh Republican introduced two constitutional amendments offering seven alternate methods of selecting judges. Four of the plans would give the governor appointive power, subject to either legislative or public confirmation.

Justices now are nominated in party judicial convention and are elected by the voters at a general election.

The amendments have as their objective the raising of judicial standards, Desmond said. "Selection of Supreme Court judges should be removed as far as possible from partisan politics."

Meanwhile, a joint legislative committee submitted the opening phase of a program designed to increase highway safety.

Senator Thomas F. Campbell (R-Schenectady) filed a bill calling for a 15 per cent cost-of-living pay bonus for state officials, including elected officers and those appointed for definite terms.

Under Desmond's proposed amendments, voters of each judicial district could elect whether to retain the present method of the alternate methods.

One amendment would make the so-called "Missouri Plan" optional to the voters. The other would offer seven alternate methods, including the Missouri Plan.

Would Appoint Judge
The Missouri system provides for appointment by the governor of a judge from one of three nominees submitted by a non-partisan judicial commission. The commission is made up of one member from each of the three judicial districts, for one year, after which the judge would be either confirmed for a full term or rejected by the voters. He would not run under a party label and, if rejected, the process would be repeated until an appointee was confirmed by the people.

The other six methods provide for selection of justices through election by the voters after nomination at a primary election. Election by the voters with an opportunity for the governor to name the first candidate.

Appointment by the governor, subject to confirmation by the Senate and later by the voters.

Appointment by the governor and approval by a non-partisan judicial commission, subject to confirmation by the voters.

Appointment by the governor for a full term, unless the Senate disapproves.

Appointment by the Appellate Division of a justice, who has served satisfactorily as a judge of a lower court.

The joint legislative committee on motor vehicle problems, introduced six bills which it said were designed to reduce the number of accidents and to minimize hazards after crashes.

They included proposals requiring mechanical directional signals on new automobiles and replacement of broken window glass with safety glass.

Other bills or resolutions would: Institute a legislative investigation of those motor books which "are obscene, glorifications of violence and crime." (Senator Harold I. Panken, D-New York City.)

Exempt stores from milk dealers' license requirements if they sell only milk purchased from licensed dealers. (Senator Arthur H. Wicks, R-Kingston.)

MARINADE TENDERIZES MEAT

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

With meat prices soaring, copy the strategy of early American cooks and use a marinade of spices, beer and salad oil to tenderize and develop the flavor of economy cuts of meat.

Early American Marinade
(1 pint)
Three tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 teaspoon cloves, dash cayenne pepper, grated rind large lemon, juice 1 large onion, 1/2 cup salad oil, 1 bottle (12 oz.) beer, 2 ice cubes.

Mix dry ingredients together; add ice cubes and grated lemon rind and enough beer to make a smooth paste. Add salad oil slowly, stirring rapidly. Add remainder of beer, onion juice or finely minced onion. Pour into a jar with tight-fitting lid. Leave out at room temperature over night and then store in refrigerator. This keeps indefinitely. Shake vigorously before using. Yield: 1 pint.

Sunday Pot Roast
(Serves 6 to 8)
Three- to 5-pound beef roast, 1/2 cup Early American marinade, 1 teaspoon pepper, 2 teaspoons salt. Use one of the cheaper pieces of meat from the fore-quarter or lower rump. If meat is too lean, lard the roast by threading strips of beef suet or pork fat through the meat or by inserting the strips of fat in gashes cut deep in the meat.

Use an enameled pan or glass baking dish with a tight-fitting lid. Pour about 1/4 cup of marinade over the meat and allow to remain in the refrigerator for several hours, turning several times. Drain and reserve the liquid. Sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Brown meat in a heavy skillet or pressure pan. Slip a rack under the browned meat; add 2 tablespoons of marinade and allow to simmer until meat is done, adding more marinade as necessary. For pressure pan, cook at 15 pounds pressure from 45 minutes to 1 hour. For heavy skillet or deep pot with tight-fitting lid, simmer 2 to 3 hours longer until meat is done. Serve with natural juice or gravy.

SUNDAY'S MENU
BREAKFAST: Tomato juice with lemon, griddle cakes, syrup or honey, link sausages, coffee, milk.

Health for All
Tuberculosis — The Sanatorium
The doctor has told you that you have tuberculosis. Your greatest desire right now is to cure the disease. You want to get back to work, to normal living with your family and friends as soon as possible.

You won't get well without complete rest, plenty of the right food and constant medical supervision. The best place for you to get them is in a modern, well-equipped sanatorium or tuberculosis hospital. Curing tuberculosis is a full-time job. Once you have TB, it works against you 24 hours a day. An enemy like that rules out half measures and half-cures. It demands the best professional care. It will thrive on your attempts and "home remedies."

The sanatorium is planned, built and operated for you and for people like you. There you will get the best possible treatment under the best possible circumstances. It will be much easier for you there to be faithful to your program of complete rest. Your body needs the well-balanced meals that are scientifically planned in the sanatorium to build it up for its fight against the disease.

You are carefully protected at the sanatorium from other illnesses that would weaken your defense against the disease. You are away from too frequent visits of friends and relatives who might excite and upset you.

Mental relaxation is just as important as physical care in fighting tuberculosis. At the sanatorium, you are spared the worry that you might be spreading tuberculosis germs to your family, friends and co-workers. You are taught how to protect yourself and others. You are away from the responsibilities and activities of home life. Your new "community" is made up of people receiving the same treatment and following the same path back to health as you are.

You are educated at the sanatorium in a way that will help preserve your health after you leave there. You will find out how to live in the future so that your tuberculosis may never become active again. At the sanatorium you will be helped to get a job that will be suited to your state of health, if you do not care to return to your former work.

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, 74 John street, Kingston, N. Y.

Hymes Shoes Blast 3118 to Lead Class A in K.B.A. Tournament

Bill Kuehn Paces With 667; Johnny Schatzel Crashes 276

Hymes Shoes moved into first place in Class A in the city bowling championships with a resounding 3118 blast last night as the city's major keggers staged an unforgettable strike spree.

Hotel Ulster, defending Major League champions, rose to supreme heights on the tough 3 and 4 drives for a second place 3099.

Johnny Schatzel, hammering a tremendous 670 triple, second highest in the tournament, was robbed of a chance at a perfect 500 by a "10-pin tap" in the tenth frame.

Schatzel poured in nine strikes in succession and pin pointed the pocket on alley 3 on the 10th ball. It was true all the way but dipped heavily at the last second for a heartbreaking tap. He spared and filled with 7 for the new single, eclipsing the previous high of 257 by Dick Howard.

Kuehn Raps 667

Hymes Shoes, rolling without their anchor, Low Hymes, who sat in the bleachers, knocked down under in steady clusters with Bill Kuehn's 667 series setting the pace. Kuehn shot 236, 244 and 187, striking out in the tenth frame to pull Hymes ahead of Hotel Ulster. The Hymes games were 1000, 1004 and 1021. They posted a net score of 3028 and pulled down a 30 pins handicap a game.

The Shootmen checked beautifully as a squad. Kuehn's 667 was backed up by Dick Howard's 612, Norm Niles 626, "Pop" Peterson 540 and John MacLellan 583.

The Ulsters, with the lowest handicap in the tournament, 10, pines knocked off games of 1062, 1071 and 966.

"600" triples were a dime a dozen, no less than nine keggers reaching the mark. The top individual efforts were:

John Schatzel, Ulsters—108, 276, 201—670.

Bill Kuehn, Hymes—230, 244, 187—667.

Ray Ross, Mickey's—212, 221, 201—637.

Ken Williams, Joneses—202, 182, 253—637.

Norm Niles, Hymes—209, 218, 204—630.

J. Ferraro, Ulsters—205, 228, 192—623.

San Francisco U. Officials Demand Showdown With Coach

San Francisco, Feb. 13 (AP)—The football eligibility ruckus kicked up by Coach Ed McKeever at the University of San Francisco showed signs today of following him into professional football.

President Tony Morabito of the San Francisco 49'ers is en route to Chicago with demands for an investigation by the All America Conference of the "white paper" on U.S.F. football which McKeever left behind him when he became coach of the Chicago Rockets.

After coaching at U.S.F. for a year McKeever abruptly resigned last month to take the pro team job and wrote a widely circulated letter in which he questioned eligibility of 22 U.S.F. players and said money was paid to some of the Dons.

Morabito left last night for a week-end meeting of officials of the All America Conference, of which the 49'ers and Rockets are members.

"I'll say plenty about this at the meeting," Morabito said. He said he considered McKeever's action "my business and I don't like it."

"We're trying to build good will—not tear it down," Morabito added. "He is one of us and people can't help but ask: 'What kind of coaches do you hire?'"

Asked if he believed McKeever's job with the Rockets would be endangered, Morabito said: "This certainly won't enhance it."

University of San Francisco officials meanwhile returned a heavy fire of counter charges at McKeever.

U.S.F. athletic officials charged McKeever with:

1. Told five players he brought here for the U.S.F. team to cover up the fact they had previously attended other colleges.

2. Stripped the athletic files of such papers as schedule negotiations, alumni letters on prospects and football plans.

3. Repeatedly exceeded budgets for grid games.

Father Jerome Sullivan, athletic moderator, announced that only one of the 22 players named by McKeever, Phil O'Connor, formerly of Notre Dame and St. Louis University—definitely was ineligible. Only one other—Joe Mocha, said by McKeever to have attended Pittsburgh, Bethany and Maryland—remains in doubt, Father Sullivan said.

He added that McKeever had "compromised" five players who failed to mention previous college attendance but that their names will be clear unless any opponent objects to their playing.

Robinson Signs

Brooklyn, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Brooklyn baseball Dodgers announced today that their star Negro first baseman, Jackie Robinson, had signed his 1948 contract. It was linked for granted that Robinson received a good boost over the $5,000 he received in 1947.

KHS Meets Port Jervis Tonight at 8

Kingston High goes gunning for its 30th consecutive victory tonight at the municipal auditorium against a rugged Port Jervis squad.

The Kiasmen are odds on favorites to continue undefeated in their uninterrupted march toward a second straight DUSO title but Coach G. Warren Kias has warned his players against a possible let-down.

Port Jervis basketball followers have been pointing for this game since the first Kingston-Port Jervis. They have felt that with a break here or there Port Jervis could have won the game in the tri-state city.

A better than 60-points-per-game machine, the Kiasmen will have their say on the matter tonight. The team clicked beautifully against Fallsburg, setting a seasonal high of 72 points.

The tentative lineups:

Kingston Port Jervis
Lowe f Furman
Rienzo f Conroy

Albany g Drinko

Referees—Dell, Palone.

Demaret-Haefner Tie in Rio Golf With Sub-Par 65's

Harlingen, Tex., Feb. 13 (AP)—Veteran campaigners Jimmy Demaret and Clayton Haefner led the way today as a field of 105 moved into the second round of the $10,000 Lower Rio Grande Valley Open.

Sixty spots in the final 36-hole battle for the money were on the line and the race was close. Twenty-nine crack shots who bettered 35-36-71 puz over the Harlingen Municipal Course's 6,045 yards yesterday were within a range of five strokes.

Demaret, the links troubador from Ojai, Calif., and Haefner, the big blonde from Charlotte, N. C., whittled par by six strokes apiece as they came in with 65's. Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., was just one stroke back, while three more "professionals" were tied at 67. They were Ky Laffoon of St. Andrews, Ill.; Otto Greiner of Baltimore and Stewart (Skip) Alexander of Mid-Pines, N. C.

Tied at 68 were Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va.; Dave Douglas, Wilmington, Del.; Ed Furgol, Detroit; Al Smith, Winston Salem, N. C.; Frank Strazza, Greenwich, Conn.; Lawson Little, Cleveland; E. J. Harrison, Little Rock, Ark.; and Lloyd Mangrum, Chicago.

Jones Says Local Meeting Is Set For Wed., Feb. 18

Kingston's bid for a franchise in the Class B Colonial League was considered by league officials at the loop's meeting in Stamford, Conn., last night, along with a bid from New Haven, Conn., for the eighth franchise, Addison Jones, leader of the local movement, said this morning.

Kingston was not represented, Jones said. Three men, including Bill Lohman, prospective manager, were willing to make the trip but it was decided not to risk the "extremely hazardous road conditions in lower New York and Connecticut."

Expecting Word Today

Jones had not heard from league officials at 10 a. m. today but expected definite word during the day on costs, et cetera involving a local franchise.

The local milk dealer was inclined to minimize New Haven's bid, claiming that league president, John Scalzi and the Poughkeepsie Chiefs are solidly behind Kingston.

A city wide meeting of interested baseball personalities will probably be held next Wednesday.

Smith-Fernandez Set For Newburgh Return

A return bout between featherweights Al Smith of Long Island and Orlando Fernandez of Cuba has been booked at the semi-final attraction at the Avalon Recreation Center in Newburgh this Monday night.

The fight is scheduled for six rounds. It will go on prior to the main bout between Jesse Jenkins of Monticello and Mike Silipo (Tony Pellizzi) of Great Neck, L. I.

Fernandez, one of the classiest boxers seen in the Newburgh arena this year, defeated Smith in their first meeting at the Avalon on February 2. Fernandez didn't beat him by much, and Smith thinks he can take the Cuban in their next encounter.

New York, Feb. 13 (AP)—Gene Burton of New York, who upset Bernard Docusen in December, tangles with the New Orleans lightweight again tonight in the feature boxing bout at Madison Square Garden.

New York, Feb. 13 (AP)—He has the appearance of a lamb, but Champion Rock Ridge Night Rocket, the little Bedlington Terrier, proved every inch a fighter as he captured the Best in the Show award over a field of 2,540 dogs in the 72nd annual Westminster Kennel Club Show in Madison Square Garden last night.

The summation given by Head Judge Samuel Millbank of New York aptly describes this one year and 11 month old gray animal that looks more like a lamb than a dog.

"With the narrowest of skulls, the most perfect of coats, grand expression, a beautiful mover, always alert, he was to me the best dog in the ring," Millbank judged. Night Rocket, affectionately called "Timmy" by his handler and trainer, Anthony Neary, born in Bedlington, England, and owners, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Rockefeller of Greenwich, Conn., easily outclassed five other variety group winners to become the first Bedlington ever to win the top prize at the Garden. He qualified for the final round by defeating 20 other winners of Terrier breeds.

Winner 17 Times

The plucky little dog, representing the sixth generation of Bedlington breeding brought to the United States from Bedlington in 1929, has been winning ribbons practically since he was born March 6, 1946.

He entered the competition with six best in shows, eight group awards and was 17 times winner of best of breeds.

Ch. Little Timstopper, a Pomeranian shown by Mrs. James M. Austin of Old Westbury, N. Y., was named winner in the toy group for the second year in a row.

Ch. Magic Mardormore, a four year old Greyhound bitch, was picked for the second straight year as the best of all hounds. It was exhibited by the Mardormore Kennels of Glen Head, N. Y.

Strathglass Tilt-Bit, Strathglass Peggy Ann, Flornell Vogue and Ch. Aman Honeybee, four Welsh Terriers, all born January 1, 1945, won the best team prize. They are owned by the Strathglass Kennels of Port Chester, N. Y.

Icy Roads Forecast

New York, Feb. 13 (AP)—A freezing rain falling this afternoon and tonight will spread an icy glaze across northern Pennsylvania and into New York state, the Weather Bureau forecast today. It said the glaze would be "moderate" but advised motorists to use caution. The New York metropolitan area will not be affected, the bureau said.

Stymie Groomed For Met Tracks

Miami, Fla., Feb. 13 (AP)—Stymie, the horse Hirsch Jacobs claimed as a juvenile for $1,500 and developed into the world's leading money winner, is being pointed for New York spring racing.

"Stymie looks and acts fine," he reported. He said the seven-year-old handicap veteran is wintering at Jack Sinner's farm in Middleburg, Va.

Late in March, or shortly before the 1948 racing season opens in New York, it's planned to ship Stymie to Jamaica race track. Primary target there, Jacobs said, will be the $75,000 added mile and three sixteenths Gallant Fox Handicap on May 15.

Two Men in Elks 113 Years

Past Exalted Rulers' Night at Kingston Lodge of Elks, 550, B.P.O.E., Thursday, was an extraordinary occasion for the two men in the center of this quartet, Jacob H. Bernstein and Dr. A. L. Hill, flanked on the left by former Mayor William F. Edelmuth, president of the New York State Elks Association and Wesley J. Cramer, right, exalted ruler of Kingston Lodge. Mr.

Bernstein, 84, has been a member of the order for 57 years, and Dr. Hill, 80, can boast of 56 years affiliation. As a past exalted ruler, Dr. Hill was presented with a gift from the organization, which also served as a birthday remembrance. During his remarks of appreciation he welcomed a class of 18 candidates to membership.

James Monroe, of Bellflower, Calif., checks the gadget he invented to make his car run 250 miles on a gallon of gas and a gallon of water. Soon he says he'll be able to do without the gasoline and just use water. Principle of Monroe's invention is the conversion of water into its hydrogen and oxygen components. These mixed with gasoline vapor, become a highly explosive product which is fed into the carburetor. Monroe hopes to perfect the device before it blows him and his car sky-high.

Prolong Dog Deaths

Detectives Wesley Cramer and Clarence Brophy have been asked to investigate reports which reached police headquarters Thursday afternoon that several dogs have died in the Poughkeepsie section of the city, presumably from poison. Wheat Men Puzzled

Garden City, N.Y., Feb. 13 (AP)—Kansas wheat farmers looked across snow-covered fields with puzzled frowns today as they sought to fathom the cause for the sudden lull in commodity prices. In wheat field interviews, the grain growers pointed to continued high demand for wheat and prospects of only a fair 1948 yield as reasons for their inability to understand the week-long market plunge. But there were no signs of a stampede by the producers to dump their holdings. The consensus seemed to be that everything will work out all right—if other prices come down accordingly.

Would Repeal Wheat Laws

Washington, Feb. 13 (AP)—Two midwest senators today proposed repeal of a law which shuts off wheat exports when reserve supplies in this country fall to 150,000,000 bushels. Senator Young (R-N.D.) said he thinks this provision in a foreign aid bill passed last December is one of the reasons for the sharp break in grain prices. He said it forces foreign buyers to look for wheat in other exporting countries when U. S. supplies fall to the fixed level. That, he declared, tends to shut American producers out of the world market and depress prices in this country.

support a system of free common schools. By devious ways, the state has always evaded the issue and has passed the burden to local communities under the guise of home rule," the teachers allege.

"New York state has the highest income behind each pupil in public school of all the states. New York state ranks 34th among the states in current effort to support schools from state funds," the statement continues.

The teachers association advocated the providing of additional funds by increasing either or all of the following methods of state income: personal income taxes, business taxes, and excises on consumption.

President Craft said that not only the Kingston Association, but every teacher association in the state have given their support to the Young-Milne bill.

The Kingston-Saugerties airport may or may not have accessories such as administration building, hangars, parking apron, runway lighting and beaching ramp depending upon the views of local authorities and what the C.A.A. inspectors believe desirable.

The C.A.A. recommendations is that the field be constructed within three years at most. Soon, it will list project of first urgency, and it is deciding whether the Kingston-Saugerties field should be on this list. If so, it would speed up the building.

dent Turk, who received it from Louis B. Steketee, president of the local Chamber of Commerce. The letter stated:

"Dear Mr. Turk:
"It has come to our attention that the Common Council may be asked to remove the green directional traffic arrows which are now located at the intersection of Albany avenue and Clinton avenue and at Washington avenue and Hurley avenue.

"The Executive Committee of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce has come on record as opposing any move to eliminate the use of these arrows, and if there is any effort to make such a change before your body, we respectfully request that the matter be given a public hearing."

The letter was referred to the Traffic Control Committee, and the Council took no action on that committee's report.

Two resolutions were read to the Council, later to be withdrawn and held for action at the next meeting. One of these would prohibit dumping between Pine Grove avenue and the railroad tracks in the area known as the city dump. It pointed out that the section is now "heavily populated" and the "stench" of the dump is unhealthy for the residents of the area.

The other resolution would place in operation the traffic light at Broadway and O'Reilly street from 7 a. m. until midnight daily. The light is now operated only on school days.

Recess Is Voted
At this point in the meeting, Alderman Thomas F. Coughlin moved that "all other business outside of the bond issue be put off until the next meeting." Alderman Bruck immediately moved to amend this motion to provide a recess until one week later. The amendment carried, seven to five.

The $200,000 bond issue, which is still pending, would provide that amount to the Board of Public Works to be used as follows: street widening and improvement, $100,000; new equipment, $71,500; the construction of an employees' lunch room in the B.P.W. barn, $1,500, and work on the sewage treatment plant, $27,000.

The request was made in a letter from Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk filed with the Council on February 4. The letter stated that the request followed recommendations of Superintendent Ernest A. Steuding which were adopted by the Board of Public Works in a meeting on January 28.

The request was referred to the Finance, Ways and Means Committee, consisting of Chairman Joseph Bruck, John Buboltz, and Paul J. Schatzel. In requesting the recess, Chairman Bruck did not reveal whether the committee had agreed upon its recommendations in the matter of the bond issue.

Had 'Bump on Head'
Miss Mabel E. Mericle of 113 Clinton avenue reported to police at 5:20 p. m. Thursday that a boy, Theodore Benson, Jr., five years old, had walked into the side of her car as she was driving on Delaware avenue near Jarrod street. Miss Mericle said she took the boy to his home at 59 Second avenue, where he was examined by his mother who told Miss Mericle that she didn't think it necessary to call a doctor. Police said the injury consisted of "a bump on the head."

Laidlaw Advises Pupils to Emulate Abraham Lincoln

Addressing Myron J. Michael pupils in commemoration of Lincoln's Birthday, Superintendent of Schools Arthur J. Laidlaw reminded them of the rich educational facilities they enjoy in comparison to the few books studied by the man who became president, and advised that they follow his example as regards the respect of parents.

Laying emphasis on Lincoln's obedience to parental authority, Superintendent Laidlaw admonished his youthful listeners to follow this policy of the great American, and to take full advantage of opportunities offered in the schools today, which he undoubtedly would have cherished when he was struggling for an education.

The road to success depends on effort and perseverance, Mr. Laidlaw said, and urged the M.J.M. pupils to keep this in mind. During the program, the two new school songs were played by their composers, Alice Milligan and Ramona Leonard, who recently were honored for their accomplishments in writing the music and lyrics.

Miss Adiska E. Conro, teacher in charge of the March of Dimes collection at M.J.M. thanked the pupils for their $251.77 contribution, largest donation from any school in this vicinity.

A special feature of the assembly was a movie on musical instruments.

Two Recent Forums
Thursday night, six pupils took part in the M.J.M. Forum with Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk and Alderman-at-Large Charles Turk, asking questions on municipal government and city affairs.

The panel of pupils was made up of Susan Horzok, Carol Kelsch, Katherine Mower, Daniel Fitzgerald, Joseph Gropous and Richard Petro. Miss Mary M. Kelly of the faculty was moderator.

A week ago, the forum with Miss Jane Kinkade as moderator, was devoted to Atomic Energy, discussion being carried on by Ruth Paley, Madeline Steinmetz, Neil Paley and James Strom, pupils.

It was the consensus that atomic energy would replace coal, oil and other heating agents in about 20 years, and that it should be controlled by an international committee.

Advice Is Given On Thawing Pipes With Electricity

Remove the ground clamp of the electric service line before connecting a generator to a water pipe to thaw frozen pipes by electricity, Clayton R. Smith, electrical engineer for the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Company, advised after being called by the fire department Thursday evening to determine the cause of a fire.

Lorenzo C. Prosser of 132 Clinton avenue called the fire department at 6:44 p. m. Thursday to investigate a fire which occurred a half hour previously. Deputy Fire Chief Harold Sanford responded and found that in thawing out a water pipe on the outside of the house with an electric generator the insulation on the lead-in wire from the street had burned off. He then called Smith to find out why this should happen.

Smith said that electricity was conducting back through the ground wire and the heat caused the insulation to burn, since the generator was putting 300 amperes on the pipe.

Lady Liberty Neglected
New York, Feb. 13 (AP)—U. S. Rep. Ellsworth B. Buck (R-N.Y.) says the Statue of Liberty "is disgraced and demeaned by the inexcusable neglect and squalor about her on Bedloe Island." After a tour of the island in New York harbor on which stands the 300-foot statue, Buck said he would ask the House Appropriations Committee for approximately $750,000. The money would be used to landscape the island, install a new pier, pave walks and build three restaurants with different price ranges to "fit any visitor's pocketbook."

Minnesota imposes 82 different taxes on her citizens.
